Forgot Password:-

All the Users of Hospital information system (AHIMS) have been allotted user name and Password. User name is a name, which will enable the user to log on to the AHIMS. The password is like a digital signature. It is very imperative that one should keep one's password a secret. Disclosing your password is like telling the secret code of a number lock to someone. Whenever a user saves a crucial record into the database, his user name is also attached to the record. At any given point later the System administrator can find out who saved the record into the database. So if someone knows your Password he will log on to the system using it and add anything into the database and you could be held responsible for it later. Never disclose your Password to anyone and do not keep your name, family member's names or anything that can be guessed by people around you as Password

Note: - If forgot your password then follow following steps:-
